KEYNOTE SPEAKER

CHRIS KOCH

Chris Koch was born and raised in the small farming and ranching community of Nanton, Alberta. He has never let the fact that he was born without arms and legs get in the way of living a "normal" life. Chris attributes an amazing family, great friends and incredible community as the reasons why he's enjoyed success in life. A sharp sense of humour has also played a key role in the positive attitude he possesses. As a kid, Chris played baseball, soccer, learned to ski and snowboard as well as worked on his grandpa's farm in Claresholm.

Today, Chris continues to farm, both around Nanton as well as in southeastern Saskatchewan. When he's not working on the farm Chris travels the world delivering his message of "If I Can..."

Simply put, if I guy without arms and legs can snowboard, surf, work on a farm and travel the world... anyone is capable of absolutely anything.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

TAD MILMINE

Although Tad has achieved his lifelong dream of wanting to be a Police Officer (currently with the Calgary Police Service), it wasn't an easy dream to achieve. Tad grew up in a home laced with abuse, neglect and addictions and was also bullied in school. At the age of 17 he ran away and started to turn his life around. Today, Tad not only is a Police Officer but he also works to make this world a better place. He created the Internationally recognized charity, 'Bullying Ends Here'. which has reached over 150,000 youth in only two years and credited with saving 30 lives. While Tad shares his own story, and that of Jamie HUBLEY in each presentation, the goal is to inspire and help youth choose positive, individual change.
